Clements in line to get £200,000

THOUSANDS of pounds could be spent on improving life on a Haverhill estate.

Families living in the Clements Estate could see £200,000 spent on the area – but first, they must submit their views on what they would like the money spent on.

Cllr Roger André, mayor of Haverhill, has hailed the investment as “great news” for the area.

He said: “Investment in the Clements community is hugely welcome. With a focus on meeting health needs, this project will offer the chance of an enduring benefit.”

The money has been earmarked for potential use in the area by the People's Health Trust, following a bid by Community Action Suffolk.

All residents are being encouraged to share their ideas for the future with the organisation, which is sending out 3,000 postcards across the area.

Cllr André added: “Community Action Suffolk is the ideal vehicle for this transformative opportunity.”

DEBRA FOX

“Our job is to see that the community are fully engaged in the planning and delivery. This is great news for our town.”

Work will also be carried out by Haverhill Town Council and local residents' groups to ensure that people living in the Clements, no matter what age, have a chance to contribute.

The investment could be used to provide new activities and services for the area, or more permanent fixtures such as a community garden or new play equipment.

A spokeswoman for Community Action Suffolk confirmed that the money could be spent on a number of small projects, or one large one.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor and ward councillor for Haverhill South, said: “Any projects to improve facilities on the Clements Estate are welcome, we especially welcome initiatives that focus on community health needs.”

“This is an exciting opportunity for our community and we must make certain that residents have their say.”

You can also submit your ideas to Community Action Suffolk by texting 07990576893 or emailing Elaine Hewes, volunteer field officer, on elaine.hewes@communityactionsuffolk.org.uk.

It is expected that a plan, showcasing the wants and needs in the area, will be put together by the end of August.

This plan will then be presented to the People's Health Trust, by Community Action Suffolk. The Trust will then decide on spending the money.

Car parking report is wrong, says council

A REPORT claiming that St Edmundsbury Borough Council handed out 9,442 parking tickets last year is wrong, the council have said.

An article in the Sunday Times reported that the borough had a 472 per cent increase in the number of parking tickets handed out from 2012, to 2013.

But the borough council says that parking fines across St Edmundsbury have in fact fallen by 62 per cent over the last two years. A spokeswoman said: "Our policy is that our courteous and helpful car park attendants take an ambassadorial approach to welcoming visitors to our towns."

"This, together with our investment in the physical car park environment, has undoubtedly added to the attraction of shopping in Bury and Haverhill, with car parking events in February up 8 per cent on the same period last year and in March up 15 per cent.

"Easter this weekend, traditionally a high demand parking period, promises to be busy. We are pursuing the matter with the Sunday Times."

The Sunday Times reported that councils are "ignoring" pleas from Eric Pickles, communities secretary, to reduce the number of tickets they issue.

Budding martial artists make the grade

MEMBERS of a local martial arts club are celebrating after passing a recent grading.

The Haverhill Wado Freestyle Karate Club has almost doubled in size in the last 18 months, according to head coach Greg Malyon, with a group of students moving up to the next level.

Attendees at the club range from age 5 to 55. Mr Malyon said: "Parents not only want their children to learn self defence but also to learn to respect for others, and karate is a great sport in which to learn that."

The youngest group, for children aged between 5 and 9, has seen one of the biggest increases.

If you want to join the club, call on 07811 878328 or email hwfk@sky.com.

The club meets on Mondays and Wednesdays at Chalkstone Community Centre.

Bus priority plan for route to Cambridge

A BUS 'priority' on the main route between Haverhill and Cambridge could be delivered by 2020 in line with a long term transport strategy.

The draft of the plan for Cambridgeshire, drawn up by the county council, includes a bus priority project for the A1307, to be delivered by March 2020. It will cost an estimated £25 million to implement.

The option to create an additional park and ride facility on the A1307 is also included in the plan.

Matthew Hancock, West Suffolk MP, has been campaigning for changes to the A1307 for a long time, hailing it as a "key issue" continuously raised with him by Haverhill people.

He held a public meeting in the town last month in a bid to hear residents' views on how the busy route could be improved. It was decided that traffic on the A1307 would be measured by both Cambridgeshire and Suffolk County councils.

The MP has celebrated the fact that

DEBRA FOX

"upgrading" the A1307 is included in the county's plans for the future.

Mr Hancock said: "Keeping the pressure on is important and the work is now under way to measure traffic flows.

"We have got to keep the whole town behind this project."

Following the public meeting on March 21, which was attended by more than 70 people, Mr Hancock has been continuing to push his petition for dualling of the A1307.

"A lot of people know about the problems of where the dual carriageway goes into a single carriageway and people try to overtake," he said.

"Over the spring and summer we will keep pushing to get as many signatures as possible to show the strength of support in the town.

"I am looking forward to the results of the traffic survey."

Cllr Anne Gower, who sits on both St

Edmundsbury Borough Council and Suffolk County Council, has previously said that safety issues on the busy road need to be addressed before any improvements are made.

Other options being considered in the transport strategy include a single track busway running parallel to A1307 and a twin track busway on the alignment of the old railway line between Haverhill and Cambridge.

The transport strategy was approved by Cambridgeshire County Council's cabinet on Tuesday.

What is Domestic Violence and How Can we Help?

Domestic violence is any incident of threatening behaviour, violence or abuse (psychological, physical, sexual, financial or emotional) between adults, who are or have been intimate partners or family members, regardless of gender or sexuality.

This definition of domestic violence recognises that on top of physical abuse, psychological and emotional abuse will also be regarded as domestic violence, as will financial abuse, for example bullying a partner by controlling their finances.

If you are a victim of domestic violence, Legal Aid may be available to you to deal with a range of family problems.

PERFORMANCE:
Haverhill Choral
Society performs at the Old
Independent Church.

An evening of music with Haverhill Choral Society

ALMOST 100 people came to watch the most recent performance of Haverhill Choral Society. The event, held at the Old Independent Church on Saturday, was dedicated to the memory of long-time member Graham Fox, who recently died.

Guests enjoyed a range of performances from the choir, accompanied by local musicians. Pieces included Brahms Requiem and Pavane, led by Jane Wright, musical director. The society's next performance is scheduled for July 13 at Clare Town Hall.

Before then they will join the town's silver band and operatic society in two concerts in memory of Cllr Les Ager, long-time conductor of the band. These will take place on June 1 at the Apex, Bury St Edmunds, and the Old Independent Church on July 6.

Now a new consultation begins for Vision 2031

DEBRA FOX

A FRESH consultation into plans for the future of Haverhill has begun.

Residents have seven weeks to submit their thoughts on proposed modifications to the plans, recommended by Roger Clews, planning inspector.

Only the modifications can be commented on during this period, which will run until May 30.

Cllr Terry Clements, St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet member for planning, said the proposed modifications reflect representations made to Mr Clews during the public hearings earlier this year.

"We believe that the rigorous testing of Vision 2031 has made it a stronger plan," he said.

Following his examination, Mr Clews has proposed that the option to provide new community parkland or a country park be included in Haverhill's plan.

A north-west relief road, which would be required as part of a proposed housing development in that part of town, will be controlled through a legal agreement attached to planning permission, Mr Clews recommended.

There will be "trigger points" for the road, to be built between Watting Road and Withersfield Road, which will determine when it will need to be developed.

A number of town centre sites including the back of the Post Office, the old Wisdom Toothbrush site, and part of Gurtens, have also been suggested for retail use if needed.

As with Bury St Edmunds,

THANKS: Cllr John Griffiths

proposed out of centre retail developments measuring more than 1,000 sq m will be required to prove they will not have an "adverse impact" on "primary shopping areas" and "local centres".

Cllr Tony Brown, who is on both borough and Suffolk County councils, has praised the modifications – but says he wishes that more observations made by the town's residents and councillors had been taken on board.

A further proposed modification for Haverhill is that the allotment site on Duddery Hill be used for a further education establishment – but with options provided for alternative use.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of the borough council, said: "We know that Haverhill is going to expand, and we don't necessarily want everyone in Haverhill going to Bury St Edmunds or Cambridge for their further education.

"There needs to be a sustainable solution for further education in Haverhill."

Suggestions for Haverhill that were not taken on following the examination were changing the use of land adjacent to Bumpstead Road from business to housing, as proposed by Carisbrooke Investments, and using the former Karro Food Group site, in Watting, for housing.

Cllr Brown added: "We are trying to build a sustainable community and we have got to have some employment land for the future. I am thrilled that the land at Bumpstead Road is being protected."

Mr Clews' report is due to be returned to the council by early July.

After that, the plans will go through committee stages before being voted on by full council and adopted as policy. The final vote is expected to take place in September.

Cllr Griffiths said: "We need Vision 2031 both to protect our way of life, wonderful heritage and environment, and to ensure our future prosperity with the right kind of desirable development, alongside the necessary safeguards and infrastructure.

"I am delighted that the planning inspector has reflected this in the recommended modifications he proposes and I would like to thank all those who have been involved in – and put so much work and thought into – this long process and who care passionately about this lovely part of the country."

Non-runner Debra Fox gets off the sofa & in training for Haverhill's inaugural 10K

I'M BEGINNING to think that I'm not a lost cause after all.

Last week I met with Lee Button, manager at Real Bodies Health and Fitness, for some much-needed advice on how to conquer the mighty 6.2 miles.

And guess what? He thinks I can do it! His first tip? Increase the distance I'm running to ensure I'll make it around the track.

Whether I walk, run, skip or jog, it's vital that I know what 10k feels like.

I stepped it up to four and five miles this week - and despite struggling for the last stretch and succumbing to a stitch, I coped. Just.

Stitches have been the biggest problem for me when running, and the best way to beat them, Mr Button revealed, is to run through them.

The team at Real Bodies also provided me with a range of core-strengthening exercises including squats (which I'm good at), lunges (passable), and planks (kill me now).

I feel a bit tender after this week, sure, but I definitely feel better than before.

Over the next week or two I'm hoping to set myself a respectable time target to complete the race in - but this is dependent on how the next seven days go.

This time next year I might even be writing a half marathon column. Well, you've got to dream big.

Former caretaker jailed for seven sex offences

A PENSIONER has been sentenced to four years in prison for seven counts of indecent assault.

Robert Bambury, who formerly worked as caretaker at Clare Middle School, was found guilty on April 11 at Ipswich Crown Court.

The 75-year-old, formerly of Clare, has also been ordered to sign the sexual offenders register and has been made the subject of a sexual offences prevention order.

The jury were unable to reach verdicts on three further allegations of indecent assault and two counts of indecency with a child.

They found Bambury, a married father-of-five, not guilty on three counts of indecent assault and one count of rape.

The jury were also directed by Judge John Devaux to return a not guilty verdict on one count of indecency with a child.

During the trial, the prosecution alleged that Bambury had sexually abused two girls between the mid 1970s and mid 1980s.

DEBRA FOX

Some of the offences were said to have taken place at Clare Middle School, where he worked at the time.

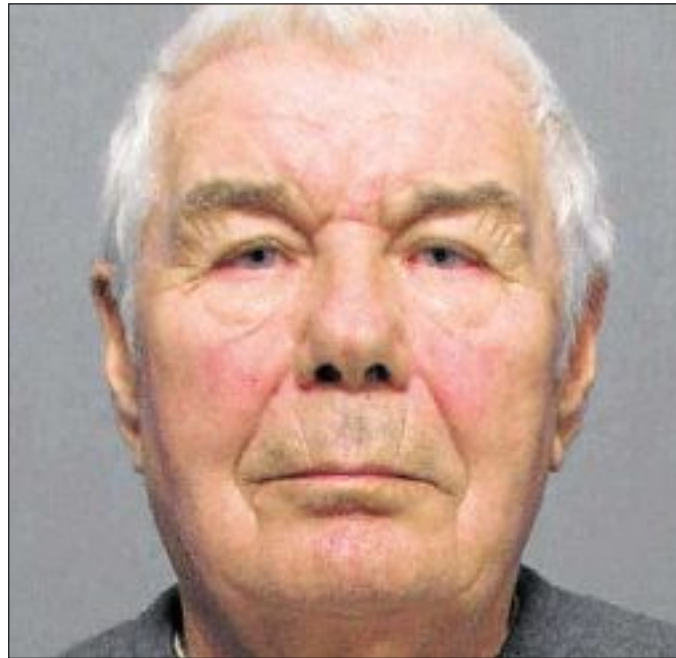

One of the victims told the court that Bambury had touched her under the guise of playing a game, and on another occasion in a swimming pool.

Speaking in court, one of them said: "I have spent my whole life trying to convince myself that it wasn't real, that it was a dream, but it was real."

On arrest, Bambury denied the allegations and suggested that one of the victims may have been having a nervous breakdown.

In evidence, Bambury, now of Wright Close, Stowmarket, admitted that he knew both of the girls and had a seven-year affair with one of them - but that this only started when she was 16.

He told the jury that the allegations were not true, and that he could not understand why the girls had made them up.

WINNING STYLE: Aimee's hair style at the competition.

Hairdresser takes the crown

A HAIRDRESSER has won an award for her imaginative work.

Aimee Lee, assistant manager at DnA Hair Studios in Haverhill, took part in a "hair up" competition at West Suffolk College's hair and beauty showcase, which took place last month.

Contestants were given a theme of "eco-friendly" and Aimee chose to do a bird's nest.

She was awarded first place.

"The competitions have a really nice atmosphere," she said. "I'm sad it was my last competition because I just love doing them."

Aimee has now completed her Level 3 in hairdressing, and has competed in her last event.

The hairdresser who qualified in 2009, previously took home a prize for the "most imaginative" style. The All Over Beauty Cup for the best Beauty competitor went to Sammie Power, also from Haverhill.

Burglar stole to fund addiction

A BURGLAR who trashed a Haverhill home to fund his drug addiction has been jailed for three years.

Patrick Burke, 24, pleaded guilty to seven counts of burglary and was sentenced at Ipswich Crown Court on Friday. The offences took place in Haverhill, Wickhambrook and South Essex.

Burke was caught by police when forensic evidence linked him to the scenes of the seven break-ins.

Burke, previously of Bury St Edmunds, stole cash and jewellery from a home in Withersfield Road, Haverhill after he shattered a door and window to get in.

Some of the items were of great sentimental value, and others had been intended as Christmas presents, the court heard.

Robert Sadd, prosecuting,

told the court that the occupier felt his belongings had been "tainted" by the burglary and that the crime had been committed by "someone who can't be bothered to go out and earn a living".

Jewellery, computer equipment and cash were also stolen from three properties in Wickhambrook, targeted by Burke.

The 24-year-old has appeared in court 24 times in connection with 44 offences. He has served terms in custody twice.

Christopher Martin, mitigating, told the court that Burke's offending started when he was 13, shortly after he started using cannabis.

He later moved on to class A drugs and started to steal to fund his habit.

"Since then he has found himself in a vicious cycle of offending to fund his addiction," Mr Martin said.

"He wishes to apologise to the victims of his crimes. He understands the nature of his offending."

Judge David Goodin sentenced Burke to three years in prison.

He said: "The nature of your burglaries was to enter forcefully causing damage, to conduct – I have no doubt swiftly – an untidy search."

"It would be devastating for the householder when they returned."

The court also heard how Burke had been taking part in drug rehabilitation programmes in prison, while awaiting sentence.

He is "desperate" to stop his use of illegal drugs, Mr Martin added.

Plea for residents to support association

THOSE wanting to help make a change in their local community are being encouraged to support a residents' association.

The Parkway Residents' Association, which meets on the second Monday of the month, needs more volunteers so it can continue in business.

Participants have agreed to carry on for the moment – but need more people to help with upcoming campaigns.

Cllr Gary Stroud said: "The residents' association has a serious side and campaigns for regular repairs to the estate, which was the first new estate to be built when the town expanded."

The Chalkstone Residents' Association (CATRA) was last month forced to suspend meetings until further notice due to lack of interest.

The next meeting is on May 12 at Burton End School, from 7pm.

A list of priorities for the coming year will be drawn up at this session.

What about our tree!

I READ with some interest the amount of money to be spent on the recreation ground. For the last three years I have tried to get a tree outside my house trimmed back as I am unable to leave my car on the drive due to bird mess. I have been told each year that there is no money available but I am quite welcome to do it myself! As both myself and my husband are over 70, do the council expect us to get on a ladder with a chain saw?

A day of local talent

HAVING been very active on the local live music scene for most of my adult life, I was honoured last year to be invited to join the committee that runs Stortford Music Festival - an annual event that attracts up to 4,000 people over the May Bank Holiday weekend. One of my many jobs this year was to find a band from Haverhill, in the hope that it would bring people from the town I live in, to the festival.

Fortunately, the Weekly News made this an easier task for me by running an article on 'Flux32' - a Haverhill band who were riding high in the chart of a Cambridge radio station with their self penned song What If. I instantly went online to have a listen, and was suitably impressed! I have since had the pleasure of meeting the band and am delighted to say they have been booked to play at the festival which takes place on Saturday 3rd and Sunday 4th May on the playing field of St Marys Catholic School, Windhill, Bishops Stortford. Headlining the main stage this year, will be musical legend Chas Hodges and his band who will be playing classic hits like Rabbit, Gertcha, Sideboard Song and Margate. Also at the top of the bill will be The UK's number one Small Faces tribute 'Small Fakers' and the ultimate 70's disco tribute 'Uncle Funk'. Plus, for ska, rockabilly and two-tone fans, we have legendary Specialists lead guitarist Roddy Radiation and the Skabilly Rebels as well as the New Town Kings who are rising stars on the current ska scene. Along with these great names,

There will be a variety of stalls. All in, we are pulling out all the stops to make this our best year ever! Flux32 will be appearing on the main stage on Saturday at 2pm. ## Thank you, Nico

ON Saturday 5th April 2014, Nico's Car Wash, Hamlet Green, Haverhill, allowed the Nipplettes to run a charity car wash day. We had a stall outside and sold cakes, sweets and hot drinks. Nico had said that he would donate £1 from every car washed to our cause. We raised just over £300 from the table and at the end of the day Nico donated £500! We would like to say a massive thank you for the donation, the kindness shown to us all as we endeavoured to raise money at his premises in aid of breast cancer and for buying us all lunch!

Easter message from the The Right Reverend Dr David Thomson, Acting Bishop of the St Edmundsbury and Ipswich Diocese

The Acting Bishop for Suffolk has praised Christians across the county for their voluntary work serving communities where they offer services including shops, cafes and gardens for playgroups.

The Right Reverend Dr David Thomson, Acting Bishop of the St Edmundsbury and Ipswich Diocese, said worshippers are joining volunteers to provide vital services.

But Bishop David believes even more good community work is still to be done. He said: "Easter gives the Church its marching orders. At last spring is here, the parks are full of people again, we're meeting up with friends and family, and everything is coming to life.

"I love to hear the stories of how churches little and large across the county are getting out too and making a difference for good and for God in their local communities. Bringing a bit of Easter to everyone.

"In Suffolk that means lots of things. For people living at Thorndon, near Eye, it is using their new kitchen and toilet to run a community cafe for the whole village. At Badingham there is a community garden in an extension of the churchyard and the village playgroup uses some of this. For people of St Mathew's in Ipswich it is running a community shop with good second hand clothing, and a laundrette, and lots more I could mention.

"Even though there is a lot going on now I would love there to be even more. I would love to be bombarded with good news stories. Church and communities working together, I want to see worshippers out of their doors and in the community working alongside other volunteers.

"In Suffolk we are putting in place a fund to help people, our new Centenary Fund, which the Suffolk Community Foundation is running for us. This is more than ever about churches and communities working together."

The diocese has forged a partnership with the Suffolk Community Foundation to launch a Centenary Fund as a permanent legacy for its 100th year that will support good work across the county and this was officially launched by the Archbishop of Canterbury during his recent visit to Suffolk as part of the diocese's centenary celebrations through 2014.

The Centenary Fund is a very practical way of helping local churches and communities to build a good future together. It is envisaged that the fund which is currently gaining donations and support financially will help support projects by the end of 2014. These projects will work with young people, and that support church work and community projects, such as town pastors on the streets of our towns, an initiative the Archbishop saw at first hand during his visit.

Bishop David said: "Let's all get out and live the story of Jesus, and be his good news in our own generation."

Would a broken foot stop you running a marathon?

A DEDICATED marathon runner had even more reason to celebrate after crossing the finish line on Sunday – having run the last seven miles with a broken foot.

Jake Warner, from Haverhill, stepped on a water bottle at the 19.4 mile mark and was forced to jog the remaining distance with an injury.

The 23-year-old, who had run 19 miles in two hours and 50 minutes, took nearly the same amount of time to reach the finish line after his fall.

Jake's finishing time was 5 hours and 30 minutes.

He said: "As I was running I felt like I trod on something and my foot bent round the bottle and just snapped.

"It was agony but I wanted to keep running, I didn't want to stop.

"The St John Ambulance people kept asking me if I needed help and whether I was sure I was alright but I'm quite a competitive person and didn't want to give in."

DEBRA FOX

Jake was raising money for The Roy Castle Lung Cancer Foundation in honour of his auntie, who was diagnosed with lung cancer last year. Since breaking his foot, donations have flooded in and took his total to almost £3,500.

The runner now has a cast on his leg, and is due to see a specialist at the weekend.

To make a donation, visit uk.virginmoneygiving.com and search for Jake Warner.

■ A mum-of-two, also from Haverhill, and her running partner have raised more than £3,000 for VICTA – a charity supporting visually impaired children and their families.

Kelly Mephram crossed the finish line in 3:49.

She said: "Thank you to my husband's company, Motonovo Finance, for donating £1,000 and to the staff at IFF for raising £250."

New link-up for housing provider and college

TENANTS with an affordable housing provider can now be directly referred to West Suffolk College.

Those living in a property owned by Havebury Housing Partnership and working with the learning and employment scheme will benefit from a new partnership with the college.

Last year, more than 20 of Havebury's tenants were helped into work by the business and nearly a dozen were assisted with work placements.

West Suffolk College can provide information on occupational and vocational courses, if relevant.

Karen Mayhew, chief executive at Havebury, said: "This partnership means that together we can better prepare candidates for apprenticeships and other jobs.

"We hope that this business model will encourage more organisations to offer work placements and we'd be delighted to hear from anyone who is interested in offering opportunities for local people."

Successful nursery unveils plans to expand

HAVERHILL'S most loved business, as voted for by residents, is looking to expand its premises.

Dizzy's Day Nursery, in Hollands Road, has entered plans to expand into an empty factory unit next door.

The nursery, which can cater for up to 96 children at a time, hopes to use this space for an out-of-school club activity area, staff rest area and storage space.

If permission is granted, a new courtyard garden will be accessed from the building, and staff hope to use this space to add to their vegetable garden, and provide more gardening and outdoor fun for the children.

Liz Nunn, head of nursery, said: "We are all very excited about the new facilities."

Dizzy's started 12 years ago, and caters for babies and children up to age 11.

There is a 30-strong staff team, and the nursery is used by some 150 families.

The application is to change the use of the building from furniture restoration (B1) to day nursery (D1).

To view the full plans visit stedmundsbury.gov.uk. For more information about the nursery contact Liz via 01440706246 or email info@dizzys-daynursery.co.uk.

Did you win online lottery?

A MYSTERY lottery winner from Suffolk has won more than £1 million through playing online.

The winner, known only as Mr C, was one of four jackpot winners in the Lotto draw on March 1 through national-lottery.co.uk.

He took home £1,089,703.

A National Lottery spokesperson said: "Huge congratulations to Mr C for winning this fantastic prize without even touching a ticket."

"After a few simple clicks he has won the jackpot and become a millionaire. With many people leading busy lives playing online is becoming increasingly popular, it means you can make sure your lucky numbers are always in the draw and your ticket is always checked."

Lotto, EuroMillions and Thunderball draws can all be entered online. Your numbers are checked automatically and you get an email if you win.

Resurfacing at recycling centre

MAJOR resurfacing works are taking place at a recycling centre in Haverhill. SCC and FCC Environment are undertaking essential resurfacing work at the town's household waste and recycling centre.

The work will "improve the surface at the site making it an improved and safer experience for all users".

The site will close on April 28 and the work is expected to finish on May 2.

If you need to dispose of waste during the closure, Suffolk County Council is advising residents to visit centres in Bury St Edmunds or Sudbury.

The Haverhill centre is due to open on May 3 at 9am.

LAUNCH: The launch of the credit union, which took place on March 21 with Matthew Hancock, West Suffolk MP.

How the credit union can help

DEBRA FOX

HAVERHILL residents will soon learn the benefits of ethically based savings.

Or at least this is the hope of the town's recently-opened credit union over the next 12 months.

Peter Carlisle, manager, has started work with establishing the service which opened its doors at the end of March.

He said: "We are trying to demonstrate to Haverhill that there is an alternative to pay day lenders and loans."

The union is based in the Havebury Housing Partnership Offices on the High Street – and although business isn't booming yet, Mr Carlisle has said there is a "need" for the service.

"It's been slow and steady. I think there's a need in every High Street in the country for a credit union."

IN CHARGE: Peter Carlisle

"We offer services to everybody – we are building up awareness and everybody can join – as long as they meet our bond requirements."

Back in January, Haverhill Town Council pledged £3,000 to help the project get off the ground. Cllr Roger André, town mayor, is a member of a steering group set up to support the service.

REACH Community Projects, the Citizens Advice Bureau and Havebury are also represented in helping the project.

Mr Carlisle is currently trying to recruit volunteers to man the credit union's help points.

After 12 months, the manager hopes that the union will have more than 100 people signed up for the service. It is hoped too that the team will have moved from Havebury and into its own shop front premises.

If you want to volunteer for the credit union, or would like any more information, email Mr Carlisle at pete@eslcu.co.uk.

The credit union is open every Monday and Wednesday from 10am until 1pm.

Will you tee off for charity?

TEAMS of four are being invited to compete in a charity game at Haverhill Golf Club.

The event, in aid of St Nicholas Hospice Care, will take place in June.

Prizes are on offer for golfers coming in first, second and third place. There will also be a team prize up for grabs.

A raffle and tombola are scheduled to take place on the day.

Jordan Hughes, St Nicholas Hospice Care Community Fundraiser, said: "Thank you to Haverhill Golf Club for putting on this event for the hospice. I hope all budding and keen golfers out there sign up to take part.

"The funds the day raises will be put to very good use, helping to support people facing life-shortening illnesses and their families."

A challenge will take place on all par three holes. Players will have the chance to win a new car if they score a hole in one.

The cost of team entry is £200 – this includes coffee and a bacon roll on arrival, a one-course running buffet and refreshments at the halfway house.

The par three challenge costs £3 per hole, it costs £2 for the putting competition or £10 all in.

For more information and to sign up contact Karen Wilby on karen@haverhillgc.co.uk or call Jordan Hughes on 01284 715597.

If you can help with sponsorship, donations, raffle prizes or offer support on the day contact Bob Spittle, Haverhill Golf Club captain, on 01440 761404.

A hair-raising challenge to highlight kidney diseases

HAIR WE GO: Nadine Stearn at D:fine Hair and Beauty in Haverhill's High Street

Picture by Richard Patterson

A CARING sister will take the plunge from thousands of feet in the air to raise money for a charity close to her heart.

Nadine Stearn, 21, of Haverhill, is gearing up for her first skydive this summer in aid of Kidney Research UK.

She has committed to the terrifying challenge for her sister Sherri, a mum-of-three, who was diagnosed with a kidney condition last year.

Nadine, of Calford Drive, said: "Her body holds fluids and it causes her ankles and legs to swell. When it happens, it's a struggle for her to walk and do everyday jobs.

"Some days she will be fine but other days she swells up and she can't walk."

Nadine was inspired to take up the challenge in September last year, while watching Children in Need.

"I was really affected by it. There are not many people out there to help and fund new research," she said.

"I am trying to get the word out there a little bit more."

The 21-year-old set herself a fundraising target of £400 – but has reached it already.

DEBRA FOX

Now, she hopes to double it to £800 by August 3.

Aside from sponsorship, Nadine has hosted a family and friends tea party, and plans to hold a "purple day" at D:fine Hair and Beauty, where she works, on July 5.

All of the staff will dress up in their favourite purple clothes, there will be complimentary cupcakes on offer for customers and a raffle on the day.

Nadine's story has already inspired residents to do their bit too.

"Thank you to Norman Jones who has been making jewellery boxes to help with the raffle, any other help would be really appreciated," she said.

If you want to make a donation to the raffle or can help with Nadine's fundraising pop into D:fine or call 01440 714433.

To donate to Nadine visit doitforcharity.com/nadines. Her skydive is on August 3 at North London Skydiving, Chatteris Airfield.

Police's plan to help vulnerable

NATALIE ROBINSON

POLICE in Suffolk are launching a new initiative to help people in mental health crisis.

After trials in Leicestershire, Cleveland and the West Midlands, Suffolk Police will send a police officer and a mental health practitioner to incidents where people are experiencing mental health difficulties.

The initiative is aimed at improving joint response times and cutting the number of people who are detained under the Mental Health Act.

Previously, people would have been taken to a place of safety, which may have been a police cell. Now, the practitioner can assess their health records and provide an assessment to take into account their mental health needs.

Assistant chief constable David Skevington said: "A significant number of the incidents we deal with involve people with mental health issues."

"By working with our partners we can further improve the way we are dealing with vulnerable people so that they get the help and support that is best for them. This joint working will help identify the best option more quickly and while the police officer and practitioner are dealing with the call.

SUPPORT: Insp Chris Galley, who leads the initiative, and Louissa Friend, one of the mental health practitioners

"Not only will this reduce demand on the officer's time but importantly is the right thing to do for the person concerned."

During a year-long trial, a triage car will be available seven days a week to provide advice and assistance around Suffolk.

The initiative comes after a policing objective for Suffolk in the Police Crime Commissioner's Police and Crime plan to "protect vulnerable people". PCC Tim Passmore said: "Protecting vulnerable people is a crucial element of my police and crime plan. It is really important that we ensure vulnerable people in our society are receiving the support that meets their specific needs."

"Our police officers come into contact with people suffering from mental ill health on a daily basis and it is vitally important that we work more effectively together to protect the most vulnerable in our society."

Man died after pump mishap during surgery

A CRUCIAL pump became detached from a patient during complicated heart surgery at Papworth Hospital, an inquest has heard.

The balloon pump was supporting the heart of Peter Mayle, 84, from Clare, who had undergone a double valve replacement and bypass procedure and he deteriorated after it was discovered that the pump had pulled free.

Coroner David Morris recorded a verdict of medical misadventure on Mr Mayle, a retired local government officer, of Nethergate Street, who died last November.

The inquest in Huntingdon heard that it was not known how the pump became detached from Mr Mayle, whose health was already compromised by heart problems.

He had to be reassessed after his original surgeon left for another job and waited 29 weeks for surgery against a national guideline of 18 weeks,

BY JULIAN MAKEY

editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

but Mr Morris was told that there were national delays in heart surgery because of the level of demand.

The disconnected pump was one of the causes of Mr Mayle's death, along with a myocardial infarction and his underlying health problems.

Consultant surgeon Choo Yen Ng said Mr Mayle's surgery had been "particularly challenging" and that there had been complications.

He put in a replacement pump after it was discovered the first had fallen out but Mr Mayle's condition deteriorated.

Mr Ng said: "My feeling is that the balloon pump negated whatever chance he had."

Dr Pedro Catarino, who carried out an investigation, said a pump coming free was an "extremely rare" event, although other lines coming loose was not uncommon.

He said the hospital had now tightened up procedures, including improved handovers between staff and a culture of everyone taking responsibility for lines and catheters during operations, especially during manual handling.

After the hearing the hospital said: "Papworth Hospital NHS Foundation trust is committed to patient safety and strives to provide excellent patient care. We therefore take incidents such as this very seriously."

It said increasing demand for its specialised services – with heart and lung transplants 25 per cent above planned numbers – and delays in getting a new hospital in Cambridge meant there was increasing pressure on facilities and waiting times.

Measures to increase capacity had been put in place, including a 12-bed ward extension.

You're expected to cope... yet you feel like a failure

Postnatal depression is thought to be caused by the hormonal changes that occur after pregnancy combined with the physical and emotional stress of looking after a newborn. It affects as many as one in seven women and, according to the NHS, is unlikely to get better by itself quickly; do contact your GP if you think you or your partner is affected.

You can find Alice's blog at knitrun4sanity.wordpress.com, and sponsor her at virginmoneygiving.com/knitrun4sanity

When Alice Leadbeter was struck down with postnatal depression, she didn't think she'd ever get better. But with the right help and plenty of determination, she has rebuilt her life – and wants to help others do the same, as she told Emma Higginbotham.

BUBBLY, easy-going and blessed with an infectious laugh, Alice Leadbeter is great company. Her house has the cosily chaotic feel of a large, happy family – photos of sons James, 10, Thomas, 8 and Harry, 5, smile down from every wall, and toys fight for space with colourful beads and yarns; as well as being a primary school teacher, Alice is a keen knitter and jewellery-maker.

But the craft projects were taking a back seat when we met, as the 40-year-old was in training to run Sunday's London Marathon. And her chosen charity? Mind. Because in spite of her cheerful nature, not so long ago Alice was in the dark depths of postnatal depression: "At my worst, I didn't think I'd ever recover," she says. "But now I'm better than I've ever been."

Alice, who lives in Burwell, always wanted to be a mum. She and husband Ian were delighted when James was born and, with no history of depression, revelled in her time with her new baby.

"I'm a perfectionist, as many teachers are; we have very high standards, and I remember thinking 'Gosh, my life's so much easier now, I've got so much more time than when I'm teaching!'" says Alice, laughing. "I had time to actually think about what I was going to wear in the morning, and maybe put a bit of make-up on..."

But when Thomas arrived, Alice wasn't quite so breezy: "I was on the edge, I think. I had a lovely health visitor who was watching me: she just picked up that I was not 'not coping', but just mentally not quite where I should be. But then when I had Harry it all fell apart."

During her pregnancy, life had become increasingly stressful for Alice. Little Thomas was very poorly with asthma, "and we spent a lot of time in the hospital with him, which was obviously really worrying," she recalls.

"Every mum wants everything to be perfect for their children. You want them to have a wonderful upbringing and a great childhood, so I nearly killed myself trying to be here for James, as well as for Thomas in hospital, and trying to make it all alright."

When Harry arrived, Alice struggled from the beginning. "There were lots of tears. Lots and lots of tears," she says. "I loved my children to bits, and I would do anything for them, but I remember lying on the bed upstairs in absolute tears, thinking 'I can't do this'."

Gradually, she felt herself withdrawing: "You almost shut down from the outside world. You're in this little bubble, and nobody knows. I put on this big act; even people who were fairly close to me didn't know because I kept them at a distance."

But at home Alice couldn't hide and, she says, it was particularly tough for Ian: "When I was crying, he'd just say 'What's wrong?' And I'd be like 'I don't know!'"

"It's so hard for the person watching you going through something, because they desperately want to help, but don't really know how. I can't fault him; he was brilliant and very hands-on. But I just shrank away from everybody."

"It wasn't as extreme as some," she adds. "Some people want to kill their children. But I could see that! I loved this thing with all my heart, but the demands it was expecting," she says, shaking her head. "It's mentally and physically draining, because they want you all the time."

Alice's other issue was that she was never able to relax: "I couldn't stop. I'd either be crumpled in tears or I'd be manic. The house had to be perfect – you can tell my standards have dropped! – but I had to have a perfect house, everything had to be ironed... I remember people saying to me 'It doesn't matter,' and I'd be like 'But it DOES!' I had such high expectations."

Luckily for Alice, her health visitor recognised that something was seriously wrong, even though at first she refused to admit it: "Who's going to say 'Do you know what, I'm really not coping?'" she says. "You're not! You're a mother, you're expected to cope. How often have you got those images of the perfect family thrown at you in the media? You can't fail, and yet you do feel like a failure."

"I used to think 'What's wrong with me? I've got three beautiful children, I've got everything I should want, but I'm not happy'. It's horrid, really horrid, because you're embarrassed. How can you admit to somebody that actually it's not going right?"

But Alice's biggest fear was what might happen to her children if she told the truth: "It must have been in the back of my mind that they might be taken away because I couldn't cope. I thought 'If I can't look after them, what's going to happen?'"

"It is really hard, but in order to get better, you have to admit that there's a problem. And once I did reach out, I found that I had an amazing team behind me."

The health visitor had clearly voiced her worries to Alice's GP and, when she went for her six week check-up, the doctor was ready: "She was just who I needed; she's a mother, and she made it sound normal." The doctor gave Alice some leaflets; by chance there was a postnatal depression group in the village, "and I phoned this lady, who came round to visit me."

"She was brilliant, because she'd been through it herself, but I remember sitting here thinking 'I'll never be able to be like her. I can't ever imagine recovering, and being like she is. There's no way out of this'."

"But she was the one who introduced me to knitting again. She said 'I used to knit things for my daughter's dolls, and I felt like I was doing something for her, but actually it was a way of sitting down'. And that was brilliant. I knitted as a teenager, so I just started again; it just meant that I could sit still and not feel guilty. Knitting is amazing because all you're worrying about is the next stitch: you're focused on that, rather than on everything else that's going on."

Alice's next step was to have counselling: "I'd got to a point where I realised I couldn't go on like this, and I needed to throw everything I could at it. So I did. Counselling's not right for everybody, but I was desperate. My counsellor was wonderful, and said 'Focus on you: if you can't look after yourself, then you can't look after everybody else'."

Moreover Alice realised, with sadness, that she needed to give up her job. "It was a very hard decision. I was worried about what people would think of me – the general perception of mental health is that you're completely nutty – and I was thinking 'Will I ever get another job if it goes on my file?'"

"But I wanted to get better, even though I didn't actually believe I could at the beginning. So I just thought 'I'm going to stop, spend the time with my children, and take one stress out of my life'."

She also decided to take antidepressants, something she'd avoided to begin with: "Again, it's another step to actually saying 'You know what? I've accepted it'. And it's just like any other medication: if it's going to help you, what's wrong with it? I just wanted to feel better."

For Alice, it worked. She busied herself with being the best mum she could be and, ever-energetic, threw herself into learning to make jewellery – and writing a blog about it. "When I wasn't working, it was almost like I wasn't a member of society, and that's when blogging really helped – it was a connection with other people. I love it."

Today, Alice feels better than ever, not least because she's back at work. With Harry starting school last September, she decided that the time was right, and now does a job-share at a local primary: "I really do love teaching," she says. "Once a teacher, always a teacher..."

So what would her advice be to someone who suspects they may have postnatal depression? "Don't struggle on your own. If you can find a doctor who you really like, and who you think will listen to you, go and see them – even if it means waiting for a week. And don't be afraid! I know it's really hard, but people will understand. I've never felt anybody judging me in a negative way because of what I've admitted to."

Alice ran the marathon for for Mind – a charity she chose because of its determination to get people talking about mental health problems.

"We need to get rid of the stigma. One in four people will be affected, which is an amazing statistic, and we really shouldn't look at anybody differently. It's an illness like any other illness, and if I can help one person by being open about it, it'll be worth it."

Help for your heart at hand

PATIENTS in need of special care for their hearts can access the service closer to home.

A new cardiology clinic has launched in Haverhill to provide cardiac ultrasounds. The new service means that patients who have been referred for the test by their GP will no longer have to travel to Bury St Edmunds for the appointment. There have been two clinics so far. They will be held on the second Thursday of every month.

Broadband work hits a milestone

MORE than 25,000 properties across Suffolk are now eligible for faster broadband.

The Better Broadband for Suffolk programme is now in its eighth month of action, and a quarter of those expected to benefit from its implementation can now apply to use the new technology.

By the end of 2015, Suffolk County Council has pledged to have every property in the county on at least 2 megabits per second for their service.

Up until this point, 10,000 more properties will be given access to the service every three months.

Mark Bee, leader of Suffolk County Council and chair of the programme, said: "We're now making significant inroads into more rural parts of the county – precisely what we set out to do when we launched Better Broadband for Suffolk."

"Faster broadband will boost Suffolk's economy, help us to attract new businesses to the county and create new jobs. It will also make it far easier for residents to access the internet and the benefits it can offer.

"I'm tremendously proud of what we have achieved and look forward to seeing this first round of rollout completed by the end of next year."

Once the work is complete, it is estimated that downloading a music album could take less than 30 seconds, while downloading a feature-length HD film would take less than 10 minutes.

Your Guide to Moving Home

Moving home can be a complicated business and in the hectic run up to the big day it is all too easy to forget something vital. The team offers their readers this handy checklist to help avoid any major pitfalls. We suggest you tick them off as you go....

1 4-2 WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – start packing and sorting through your belongings. Now is a good time to de-clutter and pack items rarely used. Make sure you have plenty of sturdy boxes, bubble wrap and sticky tape.
- ☐ Removal companies – get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Insurance – check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Utilities – make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move. Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Telecommunications – Notify your telephone and broadband provider and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone and broadband facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Post – Look into re-directing your post for a few months to make sure you receive all relevant correspondence.
- ☐ Children – Look into the possibility of your children, especially young children, staying with family or friends on the day of the move.
- ☐ Pets – Make arrangements for any pets to be booked into a cattery or kennels if required. Having your pets microchipped is a good idea and if already microchipped, have the address changed to your new one. Your vet can advise on this.

2

Change of address – tell companies and organisations that you are moving!

Notify:

- ☐ Employer
- ☐ Inland revenue
- ☐ Local council
- ☐ Banks or Building Societies
- ☐ Credit companies, store cards & other accounts
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and water boards
- ☐ Insurance companies
- ☐ Land / mobile phones
- ☐ Internet and cable / satellite TV providers
- ☐ Doctor, Dentist and Opticians
- ☐ DVLA
- ☐ Veterinary surgery
- ☐ TV Licensing

3 1 WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Delivery address – change delivery address of your Cambridge News, milk, groceries and fuel to your new address as appropriate.
- ☐ Laundry – do any last minute laundry that you can – have you arranged for a plumber to disconnect your washing machine correctly?

- ☐ Kitchen cupboards – go through your kitchen cupboards and throw out anything not in date. Also check that all jars and bottles are correctly sealed before packing.

- ☐ Fridges / Freezers – empty and clean out in preparation for moving. If you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

- ☐ Valuables / documents – put these in safe place for moving day

- ☐ Outdoor items – make sure that these are stacked together and ready to be moved.

- ☐ Mobile – place your mobile on charge the night before moving and ensure that all relevant people have your number.

5 ON MOVING DAY:

AT YOUR OLD ADDRESS:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Finish packing toiletries box.
- ☐ Direct removal firm personnel or friends helping you move as to what needs to be done.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler / central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Make final checks and leave key as arranged with new owners.

AT YOUR NEW HOME:

- ☐ Open up & have a look around the new house.

■ Basel Symphony Orchestra, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Sunday, April 27, at 7.30pm. Tickets £26-£35 from (01223) 357851 or cornex.co.uk

SWITZERLAND'S acclaimed Basel Symphony Orchestra is set to make its UK debut with a visit to Cambridge Corn Exchange on Sunday, April 27, as part of the Cambridge News-backed Cambridge Classical Concert Series.

The soloist on the night is dynamic cellist Matt Haimovitz, pictured, and the concert offers a rare chance to hear music by some of the 20th century's most influential minimalist composers. Arvo Pärt's These Words is as haunting and ethereal as the Gregorian chants which inspire so much of the composer's work; Philip Glass's mesmerising Cello Concerto No 2 receives its UK premiere; and for John Adams' Harmonielehre, the Corn Exchange will be transformed, such are the colossal orchestral resources this extraordinary piece requires.

The conductor, Dennis Russell Davies, right, is a contemporary of Philip Glass and an acknowledged champion of modern classical music.

ANDREW BURTON spoke to him

What draws you to the music of Pärt, Adams and Glass?

These are composers who have written strikingly different music, starting out in the 20th century and continuing into the 21st century. Their music found an audience that wasn't necessarily used to going to concerts, and they extended the concert-going audience's ideas of what music is and could be.

What do you hope Cambridge audiences will feel when they see the concert?

An audience makes a special effort when they come to hear music. They are not sitting at home, or listening to music on headphones. They have set aside their evening. What I hope is the audience will be rewarded and stimulated. If someone goes to see an exhibition at an art gallery, they can mull over a particular work of art, think about it, then return and have another crack at it. In the concert hall, that's difficult to pull off. You've got to be 'in the present'.

What I hope to have is an audience which actively listens. I'm assuming people who come to the concerts on our UK tour will come because they are curious. They may know one or another of the works but I doubt any of them will have heard all three, and certainly not live. So I'm hoping there'll be a sense of adventure and discovery.

What does minimalism mean to you?

The term was originally coined because, after decades of music becoming more and more complicated harmonically and technically, there was suddenly this new music that didn't require any of these virtues we had all worked so hard to acquire.

For the musicians, it was a dash of cold water: suddenly they were no longer required to play exotically intricate and difficult chromatic lines where their instruments and their capabilities were stretched to the limit. Instead, they were simply required to take two or three simple, motivic ideas and play them rhythmically accurately and in tune.

These are qualities we associate more with our classical repertoire. There's a saying that Mozart's music is too difficult for the professional and too easy for the amateur, and there's a lot of truth to that.

The music of these minimalist composers goes back to the basic virtues of good musicianship and also, on the audience's part, of listening.

The audience is almost required to be in a meditative state at some points; not to be impatient, to take the time to let events unfold. In the 19th century, this was common. After all, it's what you need to do when you hear, say, a Bruckner symphony.

What inspired you to become a conductor?

I wouldn't use the word 'inspired'. I am a pianist and try to keep it up, with all the rigours and demands of my work. The word 'conductor' refers to a very specific activity in the musical world.

It opens the doors to becoming a music director, or chief conductor, having entrepreneurial skills, it's a very active and pro-active way of being involved in the musical world."

Here's some more from Morecambe

AS Bob Golding prepares to once again take on one of the British comedy greats, James Rampton asks him: what it is like walking in Eric Morecambe's shoes?

Cambridge-born Bob Golding is reprising one of the toughest roles in theatre. The Olivier-nominated actor will once again be donning his comedy glasses and pipe as the legendary comic Eric Morecambe.

The one-man show, directed by Paul Hendy with help from Eric's son, associate producer Gary Morecambe, this is a brand new production of Tim Whitnall's Olivier Award-winning play.

It tracks the Morecambe and Wise star's trajectory from Music Hall performances to Christmas Day extravaganzas on the telly.

"I was a jobbing actor who fell into it," Golding says. "A few years ago, I approached a producer about doing a one-man play, and he said, 'You know what? You should play Eric Morecambe. You've got something of Eric about you.'" I thought, "Actually, there's something in that." Maybe it's my silliness. My kids are all daft as brushes – we come from a long line of brushes!

"I was a huge fan of Eric's. I'm a British comedy geek, and you can't be a fan of British comedy without being a fan of Morecambe and Wise. Watching Morecambe and Wise, you were guaranteed laughs. Their act was silly, and we Brits really like silly. They brought our family together, as they did everyone else's in the nation. I remember watching them with my nan who was laughing her head off. I was 7 when the Morecambe and Wise Christmas special got 28.8 million viewers on BBC1. Over half the country was watching – can you believe that? That figure will never be beaten."

But why does he think the play works so well?

"Because it's not just about Eric. I play 55 different characters. I play Eric and everyone else in his life. That gives the show real pace and energy. It's also a complete pleasure to perform.

I did 260 performances of this show a few years ago, but this is a completely new production with a new director.

"It's lovely to be back. I still get the same joy as I ever did playing Eric. I feel this great sense of elation at the end of every show.

"Eric's daughter Gail came unannounced to watch the show in Wellingborough. In the bar afterwards, I approached her and said, 'You're Gail, aren't you?' She was in floods of tears.

But he only started to get nervous when celebrities like Ant and Dec, Nicholas Parsons, Ronnie Corbett and Barry Cryer started coming along to see the show.

Golding says: "But I'm so glad I've done it. It's our duty to remind people why Eric and Ernie were so brilliant and why we still have this enormous love and adoration for them. They were two simple men who provoked a huge reaction from the whole country."

■ If you are feeling blue because the Hamsters no longer visit Haverhill, we have just the tonic for you. Paying tribute to both Jimi Hendrix and Cream, VOODOO ROOM are a stunning high energy 'Power Trio' featuring some of the UK's finest musicians. Together they perform an incredible show, delivered in the true spirit of these legendary superstars. Their individual credits include: Steve Winwood, Duran Duran, Ben E. King, Fish, Thunder, Jo Harman, Thea Gilmore, Lulu etc etc. You can catch them on Saturday 19 April at 8pm.

■ And now for something completely different that will appeal to the would-be Sherlock's out there, retired murder squad detective Trevor Marriott brings THE WORLD'S WORST SERIAL KILLERS to Haverhill on Thursday 24 April at 7.30pm.

Author of the best-selling book The Evil Within – The World's Worst Serial Killers, Trevor focuses on the crimes of 20 appalling killers, describing the suffering the victims endured, the backgrounds of the killers themselves and also the bad decisions made by law enforcement officers that allowed some of these monsters to strike again before being captured. This show is not for the faint hearted as many of the photographs shown are of a very graphic nature. No one under 16 will be admitted without a parent or appropriate adult.

■ On the cinema front we are showing THE LEGO MOVIE 2D (U) today at 10.30am. Emmet is just an average Lego figure who, after a bad case of mistaken identity, is tasked with saving Legoland from the dastardly Lord Business. Also, at 7.30pm, with a stellar cast including George Clooney, Matt Damon and Cate Blanchett, and filmed partly on location in Duxford, THE MONUMENTS MEN (12A) is showing.

news from

Geoffrey Rush, Emily Watson and Sophie Nélisse star in THE BOOK THIEF (12A) on Tuesday 22 April at 7.30pm, an adaptation of Markus Zusak's much loved 2006 inspiring tale of courage and strength. Thirteen year old Liesel is a young girl who finds escape from the horrors of World War II by stealing books and sharing them with others. Although she is initially illiterate, her world is opened up by the power of words and her own imagination.

■ Coming events include the return of your favourite male medium DEREK ACORAH with THE ENLIGHTENMENT TOUR on Saturday 26 April at 8pm, the HAVERHILL SILVER BAND on Sunday 27 April at 7.30pm and performer/songwriter BOO HEWERDINE supported by HAFDIS HULD on Thursday 1 May at 8pm.

film of the week

THE AMAZING SPIDER-MAN 2 (12A, 142 mins)
TWO is company but three super-villains are a crowd in Marc Webb's action-packed sequel to his 2012 blockbuster, which successfully rebooted the Marvel Comics franchise.

A Russian mobster in rhinoceros-shaped armour, a malignant Oscorp employee who can shoot electricity from his fingertips and an iconic green-skinned imp with daddy issues all vie for our attention during a rough 'n' tumble 142 minutes.

The film's special effects wizards oblige with dazzling sequences of Spider-Man swinging at breathless speed through the skyscrapers of New York.

Such is the dizzying velocity of these set pieces, director Webb repeatedly employs slow-motion to make sense of the blurs of blue and red spandex.

For all the sequel's technical prowess, which is considerable, it's the screen chemistry of Andrew Garfield and Emma Stone, who met on the first picture and have been dating ever since, which provides more bang than the digitally-rendered pyrotechnics.

While Peter hones his powers, childhood friend Harry Osborn (Dane DeHaan) returns to the Big Apple to assume control of Oscorp in the wake of the death of his bullying father, Norman (Chris Cooper).

Harry's ascension coincides with an industrial accident that transforms nerdy employee and Spider-Man fanatic, Max Dillon (Jamie Foxx), into an electrically-charged monster.

Thus Peter must potentially give up his life to protect Gwen and Aunt May from harm.

The Amazing Spider-Man 2 fleshes out the back story of the Parkers and their involvement in secret experiments.

Peter and Gwen's turbulent romance is the cornerstone and the film soars – rather like the titular hero – whenever they are together.

JUST as Simon Cowell knows his music and Bake Off judge Paul Hollywood knows his cakes, so award-winning gardening legend Jim Buttriss knows his onions.

And his melons, aubergines, carrots, radish and runner beans.

The plain-speaking horticulturalist, former Royal gardener and current RHS Britain in Bloom judge is now a judge in BBC2's new six-part series The Big Allotment Challenge. He pulls no punches judging harvests produced by contestants on their made-for-TV allotments.

Filmed in a Victorian walled garden on the Mapledurham Estate in Oxfordshire, nine pairs of keen gardeners have spent months planning, planting and nurturing. Given their own greenhouses, they were handed particular vegetables, fruit and flowers to grow, as well as facing a number of additional weekly challenges, including flower arranging and chutney-making, judged by floral arrangement expert Jonathan Moseley and preserves specialist Thane Price.

The series, presented by Fern Britton, was filmed last year from early spring until late summer, when award-winning Buttriss then judged the produce, from blemish-free radishes to perfect sweet peas.

So how harsh was he with this judging? "I was once nicknamed Judge Dread but you don't have to be hard, as long as you're fair and consistent in what you do," he insists. "You don't have to hurt people but you can tell them, 'This ain't good enough'. Just be fair, be honest and give people advice as to why they didn't win or they could have done better."

Much of the advice he gives in this series is about the weather-related problems faced by competitors, because last spring was particularly cold.

"Last year, March and April were awful. Light levels were appalling, we had a lot of cold weather and many people were

Judge Jim on the case

GARDENING TIPS
by Hannah Stephenson

'caught cold'. Stuff was put out which wasn't hardy enough. The one thing you'll never beat is nature. Then Mr Pest and Mr Disease comes along. It happens to everybody. They had to find a way around that.

"The most difficult thing is the timing. People who grow stuff in the garden generally don't have a deadline. Each week we set them a task, whether vegetables or flowers, and if they didn't have them ready then they didn't have an exhibit. Luckily they'd grown twice as much as they needed to guarantee they had something."

The subsequent hot weather in summer helped the growth catch up, but then it required constant watering and some produce needed slowing down.

The second strand of the competition, which is growing flowers, also put up its own problems, Buttriss says.

"Thrift was a menace last year with gladioli. They get the mottling vein. When the judge is looking at the exhibit, whatever it is, it's the overall impression that matters. Is it free of blemish? That includes the root and the leaves and everything else. With the hot weather, stuff started to move much more quickly and required covering and protecting from the direct sun. They had the risk that sweet peas would flower too quickly."

Away from the cameras and looking at other people's gardening, Buttriss is busy with his own efforts – he will be building the Homebase – Time To Reflect garden with designer Adam Frost at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show, and he is also helping to produce a display in the pavilion to mark charity Perennial's 175th anniversary.

● The Big Allotment Challenge starts on BBC2 on Tuesday, April 15 at 8pm.

Average price of a used car is £7,387

AS the SMMT reports a 17.7 per cent increase in new 14-plate car sales in March (see story on page 24), leading remarketing business, British Car Auctions (BCA), has released its data for the same month for used cars.

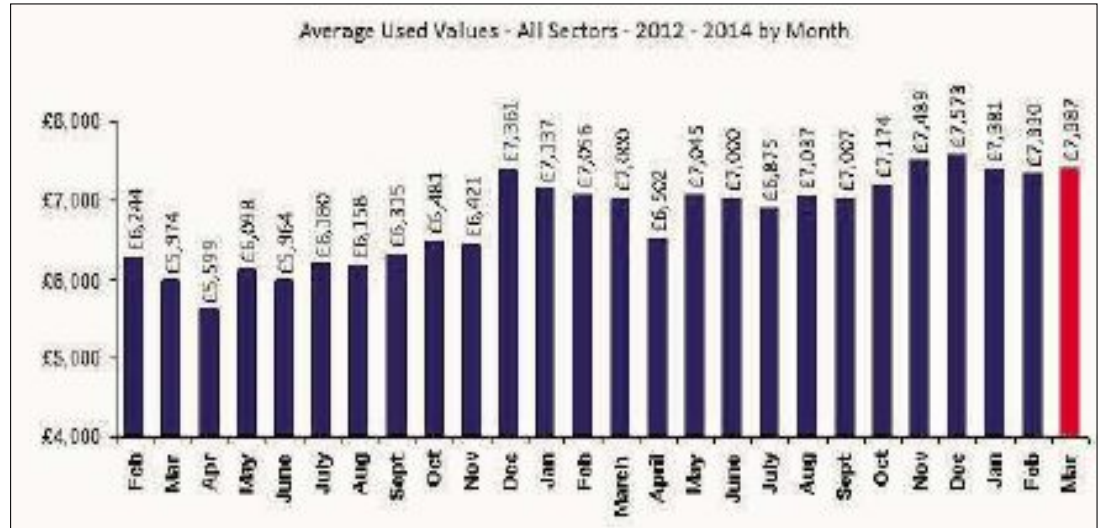

BCA's latest Pulse report shows the average value of a used car increased by £57 to £7,387 in March – the highest monthly value this year and the third highest on record. BCA's data showed that used car values were ahead by £387 or 5.5 per cent, year-on-year.

Tim Naylor, editor of BCA's annual Used Car Market Report explained: "Despite volumes remaining significantly higher than we have seen in recent months, demand was very strong across the range of cars on offer at BCA in March."

"In fact, used car sales have been exceptionally buoyant in the first three months of this year. Much of this must be down to motorists feeling a little more confident as the economy improves and looking to change their current used car for a newer and possibly more economical model. Even though the economic conditions are improving, research carried out by BCA in January shows that the cost of fuel remains top of the list of concerns for motorists, so fuel economy is very important."

He continued: "But as Easter approaches, we expect to see some downward pressure on average values and the market is already showing early signs of softening. People tend to turn their attention to paying for the summer holiday once Easter has been and gone, and plans for changing the family car often get postponed until the early autumn."

ON THE UP: The average price of a used car went up by £57 in March

FUNDRAISER: Ashley Martin Memorial

Ashley Martin Memorial Rideout date is set for May 11

IT'S time to dust the cobwebs off of those motorcycles and take part in a Magpas fundraising event.

AMMR was formed in 2009 after the death of local businessman and part-owner of Wheelfit Motorcycles, Ashley Martin.

AMMR was formed in 2009 after the death of local businessman and part-owner of Wheelfit Motorcycles, Ashley Martin. Friends and colleagues wanted to do something to remember a motorcycling friend and raise money towards the charity that tried to save him roadside. Since then the event has gone from strength to strength, and this year is the sixth event since 2009. It's about motorcyclists/bikers and the public coming together as a social, riding bikes and raising much-needed funds.

AMMR is meeting at our new start site on the Cambridge IQ research park up the A10 just passed Waterbeach – it's all hard standing with easy access. The May 11 event starts at 9am with prompt departure at 10.30am, donations to take part are £5 for a rider and £7.50 for rider-and-pillion, there is a breakfast wagon on site too to take care of the starving masses and well wishers are very welcome with ample car parking. The group then rides to Hunstanton where West Norfolk Council kindly let us park on 'The Green' for free. Riders then sample the delights that the seaside town has to offer.

Last year around 200 bikes took part, so pop along. AMMR is meeting at a new start site on the

Giulietta's 60th anniversary offer

CHECK this out for inflation: to celebrate 60 years since the launch of the original Giulietta, Alfa Romeo is offering a finance deposit contribution equivalent to the outright purchase price of the original car.

The stunning 1954 Giulietta sold for £1,250, which is precisely what Alfa is offering buyers of the 2014 model if they take out a PCP finance deal and meet a few basic criteria.

What's more, a new £510 Lunar Pearl colour option will be thrown into the bargain for customers taking up the deal in the 60th anniversary celebration window. The deal, which runs from April 7 to April 22, will also net buyers an entry into a competition to win a value swap. Effectively the free £1,250 will be swapped with the remaining value of the car.

As Alfa itself puts it: "it's a 2014 Giulietta for the price of the 1954 original!"

The Giulietta range has been extensively revised for 2014 with more technology, including standard Uconnect touch-screen infotainment systems, updated engines, redesigned seats, new seat fabrics and leather upholstery, new colours and improved standard specification on all models.

Rovers lose out to the seashiders

AN UNINSPIRING display from Haverhill Rovers ended with promotion-chasing Brightlingsea completing a Thurlo w Nunn League, Premier Division double over them.

Stuart Kingham headed Marc Abbott's corner into the side netting for the home side, before Rovers' goalkeeper Jamie Greygoose had to palm Terry Rymer's low 30-yard free kick behind.

Brightlingsea then got the only goal of the game four minutes before the break.

Defender Marcus Hunt was unlucky to slice his clearance 15 yards out and Billy Wales took his time before finding the bottom corner of the net from just outside the six-yard box.

The hosts looked for a second-half equaliser but it was not to be, and the closing stages saw them lose winger Dan Jeffrey after he was injured sliding into the pitch-side barrier.

Dan Cornwell did go close with a chance, only to see his side-foot volley go wide of the mark.

In the First Division, Aaron Forshaw scored an injury-time penalty to earn Haverhill Borough a 2-2 draw at Debenham. Captain Ross Elkins had given Borough an early lead, but they needed Forshaw, who had earlier seen Gavin Taylor miss a penalty for his side and Borough goalkeeper Anthony Choat keep out a Debenham spot-kick, to stick away his last-gasp chance to claim a point.

The last-gasp penalty came when Debenham substitute Ben Green prevented a goal by handling Martyn Farrant's shot on the line, and the home player was sent off as they finished with 10 men.

Lee double puts West Wrattling on the way to success

JOSH Lee doubled up for West Wrattling as they defeated Cherry Hinton Lions 3-1 in BM Kempton 9v9 Youth League 12A.

Lee opened the scoring in the 15th minute for Wrattling and Nathan Johnson added a second for them.

On 51 minutes, Lee extended the advantage to three goals, but there was time for Cherry Hinton to snatch a late consolation.

Oliver Santry grabbed a brace to help Aztecs White beat Willingham 3-0 in Cambridgeshire Mini Soccer League, Division 10C.

After a goalless first half, the deadlock was broken when a Freddie Hounsborne corner was fumbled over the line.

Santry's long-range strike moved them further ahead inside the final 10 minutes.

He sealed the win with his second soon after, tucking home after Hounsborne had crossed for him.

Corey supported

■ CYCLING: Up-and coming young cyclist Hector Corey has clinched a sponsorship deal with Haverhill bike shop Aerocycles.

With the addition of a brand new Merida Scultura 903 provided by Aerocycles, Corey plans to do many races at venues such as Hog Hill, Hillingdon, Graves End and many more starting in the new season on Monday.

Corey has just turned 15 so will be racing in the under-16 category for the next two years so the pressure is on, but he is determined to constantly improve.

Fish and Turner are victorious

■ GOLF: Ollie Fish and Tom Turner were the winners of the Junior 'A' Steam, sponsored by R Woolmer, at Haverhill Golf Club.

The medal was for those with handicaps of 21 and below, off the white tees, and Fish carded nett 65 to cut his handicap by a shot to 10 and beat Dan Bentley by four. James Iron was third with nett 71.

The stableford was for those with handicaps of 29 and above from the red tees, and Turner scored 35 points, six clear of Ewan Groves. Bill Chapman was third with 28.

Haverhill juniors travelled to Thorpeness to compete in the second round of the Suffolk Team Handicap Cup.

The format is teams of six, match-play over 18 holes and although Haverhill lost 4½-1½, junior organiser Doreen Darbey reported that all the matches were close and decided over the closing holes.

The juniors competed for the P Franklin Trophy (the 'Grumpy Cup'), sponsored by Eamonn Bareham.

The winner of the medal competition had to be decided on countback and Iron just had the edge scoring an impressive nett 68.

In second place was Bentley with the lowest gross round of 76, nett 68, and in third place was Louis Martin with nett 69.

The stableford competition was won by Turner with 34 points, nine clear of Chapman.

Haverhill men played in their friendly match at Abbotsley and drew 3-3.

As the winners last year, Haverhill retained the 'bone of contention' trophy and will host the next match against Abbotsley in April 2015.
